TRIREME

Tom Niles

Captain John Baptist Ford's life was one of the many facets that man can fill in today's kaleidoscope of jobs open to so many industrious young men and women like ourselves.

Born in Kentucky, John Ford traveled a long and rough road to Ford City on the banks of the Allegheny River. Captain Ford was experiencing the woes of a pioneer manufacturer. His cure for hard times in the plate glass industry, which supports most of the residents of Ford City, was the building of a larger and more efficient glass factory. To make Ford City what it is today, this man has done more than any other man in this area. He planned our streets, succored our merchants, built our schools, and mapped the way for a secure future. All Ford City residents owe to Captain Ford a debt of gratitude for what we now have.

The statue is of bronze standing on a pedestal of red Western granite. It presents the Captain with uncovered head, standing erect, with his hands clasped behind him—a favorite position of his. The statue stands facing the largest plant he ever founded. He is identified with the hard, vigorous industry he created. He gazes into space and the future, precisely as a man should who had been looking steadfast and fearlessly at life for eighty years.

No city in Pennsylvania, and few in the United States grew as fast as Ford City in the decade which saw its birth. This town, its industry, and this school will always be in the memories of the class of '68.

Dedication

In gratitude for all he has done for us, the class of 1968 is proud to dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Charles Hanna. We would like to thank him for helping to make our Snowballs, Proms, and Class Plays a success. As one of our Senior sponsors he helped get us to Washington and promoted our other activities. We wish him the best of luck in the future.

Sincerely,
Class of 1968

FACULTY

Your time as a student of the public school system has drawn to a close. Some of you will continue your formal education for a few more short years. As a student, you have received the benefits of a free society.

As you assume your place in the adult world, you will be called upon many times to help make decisions concerning the educational welfare of future generations. We are living in a world of rapid change. We are told that we are educating children to assume jobs that do not yet exist. This makes your task of planning for the future very difficult. Do not hesitate to plan for change—whatever position in life you may choose.

Sincerely,

C. N. Hanner

JUNIOR HIGH PRINCIPAL

The Class of 1968 of Ford City High School is being graduated during a period of the greatest prosperity our nation has ever known. But these are awful and perilous times in which we live, and it is good to remember that beyond our material life there are powerful spiritual forces from which we can draw strength.

Since the Class of 1968 entered Ford City Junior-Senior High School, we have suffered the assassination of our President, the horror of lawlessness and rioting in our cities, drugs on the campus, and our involvement in an undeclared was against Communism in Viet Nam. All our great wealth and affluence will not solve these problems. We need a re-awakening of our spiritual and moral values upon which America was built or we will go the way of all great civilizations.

We've also seen many good things in the last four years—great strides forward in medicine; the transplant of the human heart; programs to help the disadvantaged at home and overseas; great advances toward our goal of landing a man on the moon and many other things. Our great wealth and the dedication of many people have made these things possible. So it isn't all bad! Stay interested in your community and national affairs. Keep your mind alert and your education will never cease.

I extend to each member of the Class of 1968 my congratulations and best wishes.

DIRECTOR:

Mrs. Stull

Our A.F.S.'er

Darlene Frederickson

During the summer of '67, Darlene Frederickson was Ford City High School's A.F.S. student abroad. She spent the summer with Dr. Edmundo and Señora Rosales and their nine children in Trujillo, Peru.

While in Peru (since it was winter) Darlene attended Sagrado Corazon, a private, Catholic, girls' school with her A.F.S. sister Elsa Rosales.

Living with a Spanish speaking family and attending classes in a Spanish speaking school is an experience never to be forgotten.

Darlene extends her sincere thanks and appreciation to everyone who helped to make her priceless experience possible.

Leadership

must develop the qualities which are useful to humanity and gain knowledge so infinite and so definite that you shall be able to act wisely in times of stress. You must develop character strong enough to carry through that task that should be done.

Service

is to lose yourself in generous enthusiasm and cooperation with others for common ends, whether they be universal in appeal or humble in their mission. I am giving to my school, community, friends, foes and to myself; not for the love of praise; but love of my fellowman.

Scholarship

can dispel ignorance, superstition, and fear through scientific investigation of truth, and know the past, learn from the present and make the future something more than a chance. Put forth with faithful effort, hard and tireless effort, it is returned with manifold blessings.

Character

compounds all the finest moral and spiritual qualities, such as gentleness, strength, faith, hope and charity, which united by moral and spiritual chemistry result in the independence of thought and perseverance in choosing wisely the principles and motives that control lives.

Tom,
To one of the sweetest boys in ninth grade. Who was one of the sweetest in eight grade too. Don't ever forget the time we were engaged till I got mad at you and broke-up with you. No matter how mad I get at you though you still the sweetest boy in ninth grade who likes Debbie. Good luck in your future years at T.C.H.S. in everything you do or attempt to do. Lots of luck with Debbie!
